Imagistic Traditions in the Graeco-Roman World: A Cognitive Modeling of History of Religious Research

Edited by Luther H. Martin - Panayotis Pachis

Editions VANIAS
Imagistic Traditions in the Graeco-Roman World: A Cognitive Modeling of History of Religious Research
Imagistic Traditions
in the Graeco-Roman World:
A Cognitive Modeling of History of Religious Research

Acts of the Panel held during the XIX Congress of the International Association of History of Religions (IAHR), Tokyo, Japan, March 2005

Edited by Luther H. Martin and Panayotis Pachis

Vanias Editions
Thessaloniki 2009

Technical care: Nikolaos Rosios
Cover design: Vasiliki Altintzi - Ilias Kagiaras

Copyright © Vanias Editions 2009
Armenopoulou 26, 54635 Thessaloniki
Tel. 2310218963
Pesmatzoglou 5, Athens
Tel. 2103211097

No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored or transmitted by any means, without the written permission of the publisher.
Imagistic Traditions in the Graeco-Roman World: A Cognitive Modeling of History of Religious Research

Acts of the Panel held during the XIX Congress of the International Association of History of Religions (IAHR), Tokyo, Japan, March 2005

Edited by Luther H. Martin and Panayotis Pachis

Vanias Editions Thessaloniki 2009
CONTENTS

Contributors
Abbreviations

Introduction I:
Graeco-Roman Religions and the Cognitive Science of Religion
Whitehouse Harvey .......................................................... 1

Introduction II:
Imagistic Modes of Religiosity and the study of the Cults of Graeco-Roman World
Pachis Panayotis .............................................................. 15

The Imagistic Tradition of Dionysos in the Graeco-Roman World
Berner Ulrich ................................................................. 35

Theories of Persuasion and Modes of Religiosity in the Study of Emergent Christianities
Braun Willi ................................................................. 55

Dionysus' Image in the Post-Modern Age
Casadio Giovanni ............................................................ 89

Religious Change in Roman Religion from the Perspective of Whitehouse's Theory of the Two Modes of Religiosity
Chalupa Aleš ................................................................. 113
“Another People”: Understanding the Roman Senate’s Suppression of the Bacchanalia
Gragg L. Douglas ................................................................. 137

The “Modes Theory” and Roman Religion: National Catastrophe and Religious Response in the Second Punic War
Griffith B. Alison ................................................................ 153

The Cybele and Attis Religion and the Theory of Modes of Religiosity
Lisdorf Anders ................................................................. 179

Imagistic Modes of Religiosity in the cult of Isis/Sarapis during the Graeco-Roman Age
Pachis Panayotis ................................................................. 203

Conclusion:
Imagistic Traditions in the Graeco-Roman World
Martin H. Luther ................................................................. 237

Bibliography ........................................................................ 249

Indexes .............................................................................. 289
CONTRIBUTORS

Ulrich BERNER, is professor of Religious Studies (Religionswissenschaft) at the university of Bayreuth, Germany, faculty of cultural sciences. His main interests are European History of Religions, African Christianity, and Method and Theory in the Study of Religion. He is a member of the Advisory Board for SAPERE (Scripta Antiquitatis Posterioris ad Ethicam Religionemque pertinentia), and he is currently involved in a research project on “Tradition and Innovation. Old and New Churches in the Religious Market of South Africa”.

Giovanni, CASADIO, is Professor Ordinarius of History of Religions at the University of Salerno. Past member of the executive committee of the European Association for the Study of religions (EASR) as Publications officer. Associate editor of the II ed. of the Eliade’s Encyclopedia of Religion. Member of the advisory board of several international series and journals (including Archaeus and Vergilius). 109 publications in Italian, English, French, German, Spanish, and Romanian on ancient Mediterranean religions and religious historiography. Books: Storia del

Ales CHALUPA, is Assistant Professor at the Department for the Study of Religions at Masaryk University, Brno, Czech Republic. His field of research is ancient religions, especially Roman religion, Graeco-Roman magic and Mithraism. In recent years, he has also focused on the cognitive science of religion and its possible contribution to the methodology of the study of ancient religious traditions.

Douglas L. GRAGG, is a historian of Graeco-roman religions. His research has focused primarily on religions of Rome, including early forms of Judaism and Christianity, and has drawn heavily on insights and models derived from semiotic and (more currently) cognitive theory.

Alison GRIFFITH, is a senior lecturer at the University of Canterbury in Christchurch, New Zealand and the chief editor of the Electronic Journal of Mithraic Studies. She is the author of numerous articles on the worship of Mithras in Rome and also on Roman religion and its alternatives.

Anders LISDORF, received his PhD “The Dissemination of Divination in Roman Republican Times - A Cognitive Approach” from University of Copenhagen 2007. His research interests are how the cognitive science of religion can help understand the large scale patterns of history.

Luther H. MARTIN, Professor of Religion at the University of Vermont, is the author of Hellenistic Religions. An Introduction (1987), an editor (with Panayotis Pachis) of Theoretical Frameworks for the Study of Graeco-Roman Religions (2003), of Hellenisation, Empire and Globalisation: Lessons from Antiquity
(also with Pachis, 2004), and author of numerous articles in this area of the history of religions. In addition, he is the author of many articles on theory and method in the study of religion, an editor of several volumes of essays on this topic, including (with Harvey Whitehouse), Theorizing Religions Past: Archeology, History and Cognition (2004), and with Jesper Sørensen, Past Minds: Studies in Cognitive Historiography (forthcoming). He is an editor as well of a volume entitled The Academic Study of Religion during the Cold War (2001). He is currently President of the International Association for the Cognitive Science of Religion and is engaged in the study of Graeco-roman religions from the perspective of the cognitive sciences.

Panayotis PACHIS, is Associate Professor of religious Studies at the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece. His research focuses on the religions of the Graeco-Roman era and the method and theory in the study of religion. He has published a number of articles and books related to the above topics. He is co-editor of Theoretical Frameworks for the Study of Graeco-Roman Religions (2002) and Hellenisation, empire and globalisation: Lessons from Antiquity (2004).

Harvey WHITEHOUSE, is Head of the School of Anthropology and Museum Ethnography, Director of the Centre for Anthropology and Mind, and a Fellow of Magdalen College. After carrying out two years of field research on a ‘cargo cult’ in New Britain, Papua New Guinea in the late eighties, Harvey Whitehouse developed a theory of ‘modes of religiosity’ that has been the subject of extensive critical evaluation and testing by anthropologists, historians, archaeologists, and cognitive scientists. In recent years, he has focused his energies on the development of collaborative programs of research on cognition and culture.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Abbreviation</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>AEMTh</td>
<td>Αρχαιολογικό Έργο στη Μακεδονία και στη Θράκη.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BIE</td>
<td>Bulletin de l' Institute Égyptien.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CA</td>
<td>Classical Antiquity.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CIL</td>
<td>Corpus Inscriptionum Latinarum. Berlin, 1863-.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CJ</td>
<td>Classical Journal.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CPh</td>
<td>Classical Philology.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EPRO</td>
<td>Études Prélminaires aux Religions Orientales dans l' Empire Romain, ed. M.J. Vermaseren.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>JRS</td>
<td>Journal of Roman Studies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MTSR</td>
<td>Method and Theory in the Study of Religion.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PBSR</td>
<td>Papers of the British School of Rome.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RGVV</td>
<td>Religionsgeschichtliche Versuche und Vorarbeiten.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SNTS</td>
<td>Studiorum Novi Testamenti Societas.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>